> THE INDIAN QUESTION. The New York Herald endorses the preposition for disarming the Indians and the plan of the new Secretary is as likely to be popular in the east us in the west. We should like to see it put into fair representation of all scerious, effect. The Herald says:

The Indians are officially known as wards of the nation." The Government is their guardian, and in that capacity treats them as children or paupers. It does not require that the shall support themselves, and so far the are paupers; it provides men and mean children. But neither children n firearms. The Government, as guardian of these wards, has a right to take their arms from them and to prohibit their possession of weapons, and as it ough
